Read and watch Manisha's story and then answer the questions below.

"I had this personal experience a year ago in Bent's Basin where my boyfriend past away because he did not know how to swim. He was just trying to save his friends. He didn't have any idea about safety procedures and safety measures. With so many peoples help they could not save him. It's such a loss for the whole family and friends. It gives me a different idea on the importance of educating ourselves on water safety - small mistakes where we don't educate ourselves and we then lose lives."
